

2018 Plans

Some of the ENVi Committee at our planning meeting

Find out who we are.

Dear Museum Educators,

The ENVi committee recently held a planning meeting to map out our program for 2018. Our purpose is to bring museum educators together to network at face-to-face events featuring topics pertinent to our profession. While all details are not yet finalised, we are planning some really exciting events. Please make note in your diary and look out for updates.

- 26 February Orientation Day for Museum Educators and Students. This will be a full day featuring a variety of speakers and exploring contemporary museum education issues and practice. Venues TBC.
- 26 February Biennial General Meeting. Following the Orientation Day, we will have a short BGM to elect our committee. This will also feature a conversation with Andrew Hiskens from the State Library and Sacha Fawkes from the National Sports Museum on Evidence of Learning in Museums. Venue TBC

Nominations for the ENVi Committee are now open and a form is attached to this email. We encourage you to join this committed group of volunteers.

April (Date TBC) The Slow Museum. What is it? Come and find out! Venue TBC

4 June MEET Day in Melbourne. This popular event is a precursor to the MGA National Conference and is run in conjunction with the MA Evaluation and Technology networks. It will feature a keynote by Prof. Genevieve Bell from ANU. Lightning talks from across Australia and afternoon workshops will complete this full-day event. More details soon.

July (Date TBC) Winter Masterpieces at the NGV. Run in conjunction with MAVic, this program will provide an introduction to the MOMA exhibition and access to the popular Friday evening program. A moderate cost will cover wine and finger food.

September/October Recent Research into Museum Learning. Do you know of someone doing a doctorate or research into this topic? Please let us know (phoban@sovereignhill.com.au) We want an interesting speaker at an interesting venue on a topic central to us all ... followed by drinks at a bar!

November Travellers' Tales. This popular event brings together museum folk who had the chance to travel and visit international museums. It provides us with an international snapshot and makes us ENVious.

We are also likely to run other events in conjunction with partner groups. Please keep a look out for emails with more details and check our website for updates. <https://maenvi.wordpress.com/>

We look forward to catching up with you in 2018.
